

Mondly for Institutional Courseware

WIDER WORLD

SECOND EDITION

Mondly by Pearson

Mondly by Pearson offers a flexible and interactive approach to complement the traditional, school curriculum-based general English learning path.

It is an exceptional tool for revising, reinforcing and extending school-covered material as it provides a variety of exercises that can be selected to match the specific topics covered in the classroom at the same time offering a mode of presentation and practice different to those applied in the classroom.

Mondly by Pearson

Since each institutional course has its own lexical, grammatical and functional syllabus and there are differences in how these topics are combined, it is recommended to use Mondly by Pearson as:

- 1 Spaced repetition for cumulative practice
- 2 Means of going beyond institutional syllabus

Spaced repetition for cumulative practice

aids long-term retention of information by allowing students to revisit the material when it naturally begins to fade in their memory and by re-exposing them to familiar language but with different vocabulary, grammar and functional combinations than in the classroom and coursebook.

Going beyond the institutional syllabus supports the learners in their language development by breaking the limitations of the classroom and coursebook language and offering alternative contexts and learning experience.

The recommended approach is to refer to relevant Mondly content some time after a given topic was covered in the classroom.

When the learners revisit the subject, they've already had a chance to take further steps on their learning path and become familiar with more lexical, grammatical and functional topics.

Every two or three units it is time for the cumulative revision and the encounter with the revised language in contexts different to those experienced in the classroom and the coursebook.

Alignment by topics and GSE

The recommended alignment of Mondly with institutional courseware is based on both topics and GSE level: the suggested Mondly lessons will not only match the given course content in terms of the subject but will be also a good fit in terms of overall language proficiency.

Mondly content for English Language Learning is available at three levels:

- Beginner: GSE 10-42 (CEFR <A1-A2+)
- Intermediate: GSE 43-58 (CEFR B1-B1+)
- Advanced: GSE 59-75 (CEFR B2-B2+)

Recommended approach

It is advised to use selected Mondly categories for revision at the beginning of the new level of the course (alongside with Unit 0/Starter/Hello if there is one) and then to go back to recommended Mondly sections at regular intervals, usually every two or three units. See next slides for the recommendations on using Mondly with Wider World 2e.

For more information on Mondly Beginner, Intermediate and Advanced content (vocabulary, grammar, learning objectives and GSE/CEFR levels) please refer to Mondly mapping booklets.

Mondly and Wider World 2e recommended alignment

Even though WW Starter, WW1 and WW2 students are all at Mondly Beginner level, there is progression on the GSE and the recommended Mondly content is relevant for the respective levels of the course.
